APPROVAL OF NEW COTTON STRAIN RECOMMENDED FOR WILT-PROBLEM AREAS IN SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY

VISALIA – The Continuous Cotton Variety Testing committee, meeting in Visalia, adopted a resolution recommending that a new cotton strain, T-1307, be released for planting in 1974 in wilt-problem areas of the San Joaquin valley.

Joint action by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, California Department of Food and Agriculture, and University of California Agricultural Experiment station is required before any new cotton strain can be released for commercial planting in the Valley.

The CCVTC motion came after data presented by researchers showed that in yield tests conducted this season on heavy wilt-infested land T-1307 outyielded tests conducted this season on heavy wilt-infested land T-1307 outyielded both SJ-1, the present San Joaquin valley cotton, and SJ-2, the variety designated for general planting in 1974.

It was explained that if released as requested the T-1307 would be intended only for wilt areas. The committee emphasized all test results show that SJ-2 consistently has out performed T-1307 in non-wilt areas of the valley.

Dick Bassett, University agronomist in charge of the testing program, announced that nine-location variety trials have put SJ-2 in first place for the third consecutive year, with first picking yields of 866 pounds per acre.

Enough T-1307 seed was produced this season to plant up to 80,000 acres in 1974 including the quantity needed for further seed increase. Total cotton acreage in the valley is expected to reach 1,080,000 acres next season, an increase of about 20% over 1973, according to survey figures of the California Planting Cotton Seed distributors.

Bicentennial Projects Considered As Commission Points Toward 1976

VISALIA – A number of projects are being considered by Tulare county's American Revolution Bicentennial commission, headed by Rodney Homer of Porterville, as the county and its communities tie in with a national observance in 1976.

Under consideration are: Restoration of the "Pioneer" statue at Mooney grove; restoration of the "Charter Oak"; produce an Historical map; install markers at significant stream crossings of the old Butterfield Stage routes for tourists; commission a Bicentennial tree somewhere in Tulare county; establish a Bicentennial award for best entry with a historical theme in community festivals, parades, rodeos, etc.; place a Bicentennial car entry in all county celebration parades.

Collect historical pictures, documents, artifacts, and data for deposit in the Tulare County Historical library; establish a Valley Oak Acron Seedling nursery to produce thousands of the famous Valley Oaks for planting all over the county; and seek ways and means of planting California Golden Poppy seed on the foothills of the Sierra Nevada mountains of Tulare county, since the Poppy is the State Flower of California.

Suggestions from any interested persons, and volunteers to work on projects,

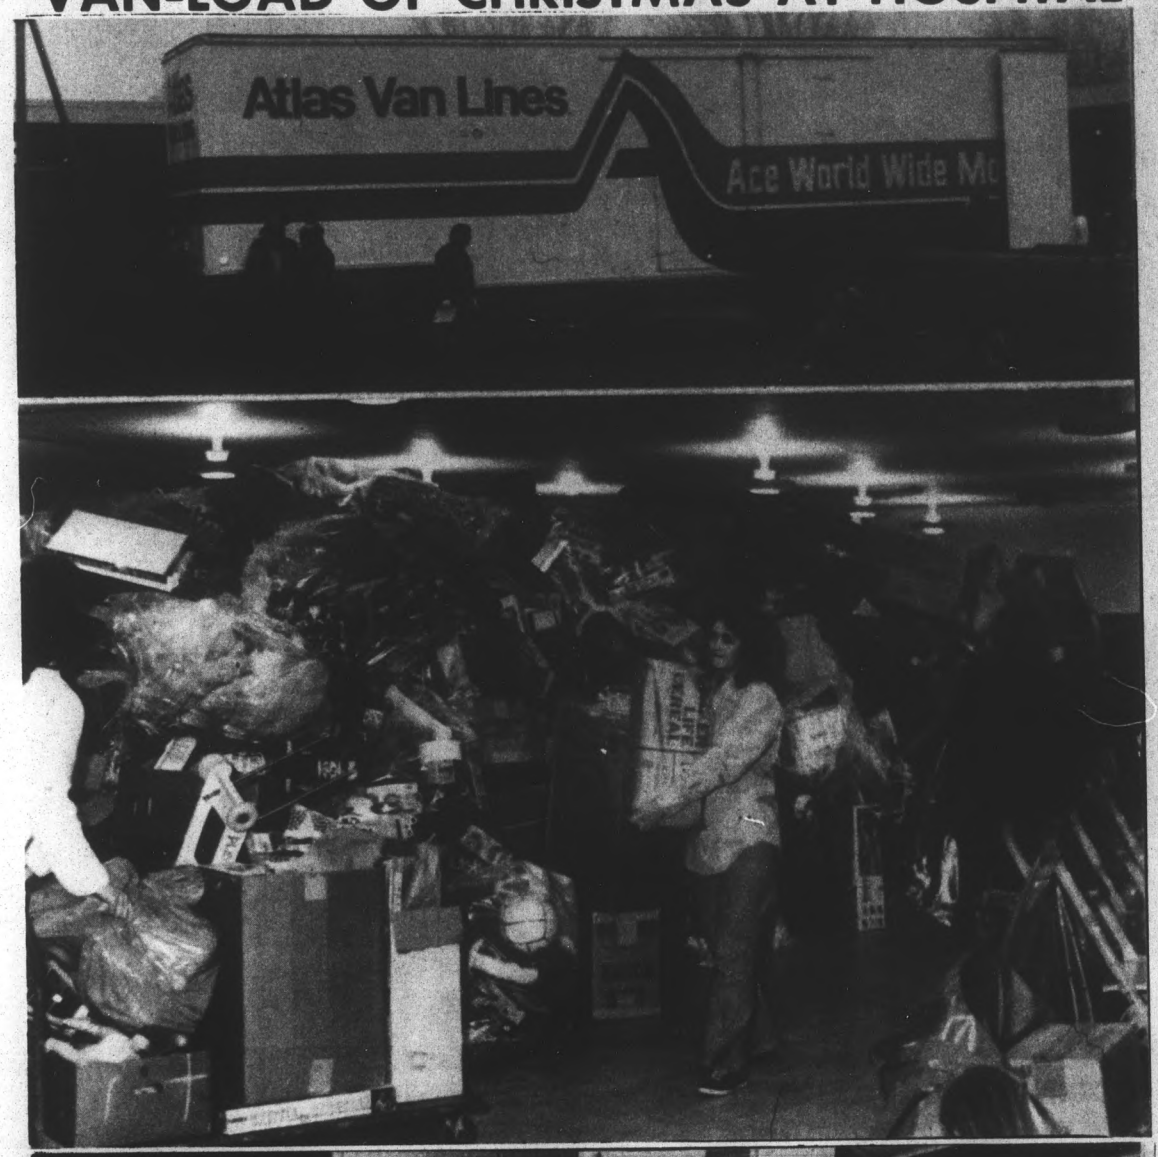
VAN-LOAD OF CHRISTMAS AT HOSPITAL



CHRISTMAS CAME to the Porterville State hospital this year by the van load - as it has for the past several years - thanks to the promotional efforts of KABC-TV, Channel 7, Los Angeles in securing hundreds of donated toys from throughout southern California for patients at the hospital. Photos give some idea of the action - a van from southern California ready to be unloaded; some of the toy cargo; a look inside the van, with gifts stacked to the top; hospital workers helping unload; Don Fitzpatrick, of the hospital's recreation staff, holds one of the posters used throughout the Los Angeles area with a picture of Dr. George Fischbeck, of KABC-TV, who spearheads the toy drive; and Santa Claus on a hospital ward the day before Christmas, distributing gifts and being photographed for a Christmas night show that featured the Porterville State Hospital project. SHRINERS TAKE GIFTS TO HOSPITAL

REPRESENTATIVES OF the Tulare County Shrine club arrived at the Porterville State hospital, Saturday, with a box of Christmas gifts for patients - from left: Gene Quiram, of Porterville, club secretary; Bob Bray, who is on the hospital staff, Shrine Gift committee chairman; and O.F. "Bud" Justice, of Woodlake, club president. The 305 members of the Tulare County Shrine club are asked each year to give a gift to the hospital rather than exchanging gifts among themselves. OVERDUE ENERGY COORDINATION

With White House announcement of a new energy czar, William E. Simon, and the coordination of all energy matters under Simon's jurisdiction, if Congress approves, the nation can hope for more action and less talk about new programming.

In a little noted aside, Simon, in his first public appearance as energy boss, came up with one extremely practical proposal for consideration. That proposal would be for a second trans-Alaska pipeline to parallel the one presently approved in order to move more oil more quickly to the rest of the nation from Alaska's major North Slope oil field.

Not knowing the economics or what feasibility studies have preceeded Mr. Simon's suggestion there is no way to say let's hop to it, or not. The fact is, however, that it is the kind of practical thinking to meet a major need at an early date which is overdue. Interior Secretary Morton's go ahead for oil shale development on a trial basis is another. And there are others —coal degasification, nuclear, geothermal, solar and renewed offshore drilling that need some hard-headed viewing. We have had enough wringing of the hands and buck passing. Hopefully Mr. Simon's office can get some action.

Basketball Tournament Set By Sunkist

FRESNO — The first Sunkist-California Community College basketball tournament will be held March 7-9, 1974, at Selland arena in the Fresno Convention center, according to an announcement at a luncheon meeting at the Fresno Hilton hotel of the Valley Sportswriters and Sportscasters association.

The joint announcement was made by Tom Gaddis, public relations representative for Sunkist Growers, Inc., headquartered at Sherman Oaks, and by Jim Warkentin of Reedley college, executive secretary of the Community College State Athletic committee.

The tournament will bring to Fresno eight conference champions from large community colleges and, in separate competition, four champions from leagues representing smaller schools.

In previous years, the cage meet has been held in campus gyms at various locations. Under the new agreement, it will be held in Fresno through 1976 but with a review each year by the sponsors. The hope is to build interest and attendance so that Selland arena, with seating for 6,000, will become the permanent home of the event.

The host committee consists of six central California community colleges: Fresno, West Hills, Reedley, Merced, College of the Sequoias and Porterville. Tom Gilcrest and Dick Hamilton of COS are meet co-directors. Hans Wiedenhoefer and John Toomasian of Fresno City college head up the local arrangements committee.

Other Sunkist Growers sports sponsorships include the Sunkist Invitational Track meet at the Los Angeles Sports arena, Sunkist Invitational Swim meets held annually at Reedley and Visalia, and the Sunkist Bowl at Yuma for the NJCAA football championship.

COLLEGE PERSONNEL GET SALARY RAISE OF 6.1 PERCENT

BAKERSFIELD — Kern Community College District board of trustees has granted salary increases of 6.1 percent to classified and managerial staffs of Bakersfield, Porterville and Cerro Coso colleges.

The board deferred action on salaries for teaching staff until the January 3, 1974 board meeting. It also authorized an immediate study of classified salaries to determine whether salaries are at a level to be competitive in the local labor market.

'Dark Angel' Recalls Pitt's Football Pirates

By Marco Smolich, Sports Editor

FORTY-THREE YEARS ago a sturdy, good-looking native of Porterville played fullback as a sophomore for Coach Slip Madigan's St. Mary's College Gaels and had New York reporters searching for adjectives and adverbs to describe his brilliant performance in a 20-12 upset victory over Eastern powerhouse Fordham at the Polo Grounds.

Angelo "Angel" Brovelli

That 1930 battle not only kicked off a classic intersectional series which covered a dozen contests but also marked the Rams' only loss of the season.

Since 1940 that sophomore fullback, Angelo Brovelli — dubbed "Dark Angel of Moraga" by Al Santoro, then sports editor of the old Oakland Post-Inquirer—has resided on a ranch two miles southwest of Galt.

BROVELLI, AT 63 only a few pounds over his playing weight of 195 — "but maybe I've shrunk a little from 6 feet" — couldn't help but reminisce last Saturday while the Pittsburgh Steelers were drubbing the San Francisco 49ers at Candlestick Park. In 1933 Angelo was on Pittsburgh's first National Football League club, owned and operated then as it is now by Art Rooney — "a real good owner." However, they started out as the Pirates, not the Steelers.

One of St. Mary's all-time greats, Brovelli didn't care if he played pro ball or not after his collegiate days were over.

But NFL people began contacting him. No draft in that era; instead, you shopped around for the best deal.

"TIM O'MARA, OWNER of the New York Giants, wouldn't give me the money I wanted," said Angelo. "The offer from Pittsburgh, believe it or not, came from Rooney through a friend, Milt Jaffe, who had Hollywood connections, the Marx Brothers and Dr. Margaret Chung, then a quite famous San Franciscan who knew my wife, Caroline.

"Finally, I signed with the Pirates.

"What did I get? We were paid by the game. I don't recall exactly but it was high. I've been told I made as much if not more than players like Benny Friedman, Ken Strong, Red Grange, Beattie Feathers and Bronko Nagurski."

THE TWO CAMPAIGNS Brovelli spent with Pitt's Pirates — his only two years as a pro — were losers.

"Those days you played 60 minutes," he said. "On defense I was a safety. We weren't much but I played against some great ones.

"Grange was over the hill by then but there was Nagurski. He'd just kill you. I guess one of the reasons I quit when I did was because I'd gotten brave and met him head-on.

"WHEN I LEARNED I'd been traded in '34 I didn't know what to do. Anyway, that night I got together with the coach and some players.

"We had a little party. I got drunk and figured, 'What the hell, I'm tired of being beaten around. I'm all bruised up.'

"The next day I got on a plane and flew back to California. That was the end of my playing football."

THE 1930 FORDHAM game saw several men from this area on the field for the Gaels.

"That's right," recalled Angelo. "Guys like Garry Vivaldi and Maury McCaffrey of Sacramento, Bob Patterson and Dick Boyle of Vallejo and Dick Sperbeck Sr., Dutch Rubel and Charley Baird of Marysville."

Vince Lombardi was a Fordham freshman in '30 and watched the game from the stands but Brovelli played against him later and got to known him.

"I saw Vince several years ago at the Pro Bowl in Los Angeles," said Angelo. "He was with Paul Horning and Jim Taylor. He told Taylor 'You think you're a tough runner — well, you should have seen this dago - - - -'."

THE "DARK ANGEL" was on the 1933 West Shrine squad — coached by Babe Hollingberry, Dana X. Bible and Percy Locey — which beat the East 21-13.

"California's Hank Schaldach made all our points," he said. "Also playing for the West was Ernie Caddell, the Stanford halfback who's now in Roseville.

"Schaldach, as a matter of fact, beat St. Mary's in the only game we lost in '30. We had a 6-0 lead over the Bears but he scored a TD and dropkicked the extra point."

After working for the Standard Oil Company a few years, Angelo switched his primary sports interest from football to thoroughbreds soon after settling at the ranch near Galt.

"WE HAVE MARES," he said, "and breed to outside stallions. There's a 2-year-old filly by Greek Money out of a Motorist II mare in training.

"Our two best horses were Humoso and Patricius, both winners in allowances. Humoso raced in stakes down south, never winning but also never finishing worse than fourth.

"Jimmy Kilroe (Santa Anita racing secretary) told me, 'Ang, you've got to win one of these stakes sooner or later,' But Humoso never did. Maybe we used the wrong jockeys."

(The above column was brought in by Clarence "Lefty" Toole, retired Porterville high school teacher, who coached Brovelli in high school. The late Howard Beard was varsity football coach when Brovelli was at his high school peak as offensive fullback and defensive linebacker during his junior and senior years.)

County ASC Committee Organized To Work With Farm Programs In '74

VISALIA – Don Eisner, Strathmore district cotton grower, was elected to a three year term to the Tulare County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee by delegates to the ASC county convention, held December 17, at the Tulare County ASCS Office, in Visalia.

Delegates also elected Lawrence Taylor, a cotton grower in the Dinuba area, and Bill Westbrook, a cotton grower in the Pixley area, as first and second alternates to the committee.

Robert Clark, a cotton and corn grower in the Tulare area, was re-elected as committee chairman and Eisner will serve as vice-chairman. Stanley Nagata, a cotton and grape grower in the Dinuba area, will serve as a regular member for the coming year.

Tulare County committeemen are elected by the community committeemen to serve staggered three-year terms, so that ordinarily one vacancy occurs each year. County committee alternates are elected for one-year terms.

The county ASC committee is responsible for local administration of government farm programs such as cotton, feed grain and wheat.

The vacancies were filled by farmer-delegates who are newly-elected ASC community committeemen for 1974. Community committees assist the county committee in farm program administration and help keep farmers informed of program provisions.

The newly elected county and community committeemen take office Jan. 1, 1974.

ADDITIONAL WORKERS NAMED TO ASSIST IN YMCA MEMBER DRIVE

Goal for this year's campaign is $7,500, Kercher said.

Cyclists should ride in the right-hand lane, with the traffic, never against it.

EDISON COMPANY PLANS BOND ISSUE

ROSEMEAD – Southern California Edison company's board of directors has authorized plans to raise $100 million through the sale of first and refunding mortgage bonds, according to Jack K. Horton, chairman and chief executive officer, announced. The new issue, Series CC, due 1999, is scheduled for bidding on Wednesday, February 13. Proceeds from the sale will be used to retire and discharge short-term obligations and to help finance Edison's continuing construction program.

The bond offering replaces a previously announced plan to make a common stock offering at this time, Horton said. The change is due to the current depressed state of the market for common stocks, he said.

Edison supplies electricity to more than 7.3 million people living in the company's 50,000 square mile service territory in portions of Central and Southern California.

Warning Issued On Possible Bus Defect

SACRAMENTO – Owners of school buses built by Gillig Brothers company of Hayward between 1962-1966 have been warned by the manufacturer and the California Highway patrol of a potential defect that could result in loss of steering.

The malfunction would come through the failure of a bearing mounted on the bus steering column shaft. The same bearing is installed on buses manufactured after 1966 but there is less probability of failure because of changes in the design of the steering shaft.

School districts listed as owners of suspect buses are being notified of the problem by the company and advised that earlier models should be removed from service, disassembled and examined. Newer models may remain in service but should be inspected without delay.

FARM FRONT

VISALIA — 'Tis the season to be jolly, but for Tulare county farmers, it's also the season to continue farming. As reported by Agricultural Commissioner Clyde Churchill, this is the way it was as of the week ending December 22:

Navel oranges being picked as weather allows; Christmas and export shipments moving well; 2 4-D and Giberellin being applied to Navel trees to help hold fruit and preserve quality for later marketing.

Foothill range grasses coming on well, but it is still early for heavy grazing, and cattlemen are still doing some supplemental feeding.

Corn, milo and cotton fields being disced as weather permits; second picking of cotton has slowed.

Pruning continues in deciduous fruits and grapes; commercial nurseries are digging, but need frost for complete dormancy of some varieties.

Lettuce is being packed.

Campbell Now Inspector For Pesticide Use

VISALIA — Jim Campbell has been appointed Pesticide Use Enforcement inspector for the southern portion of Tulare county by Tulare County Agricultural Commissioner Clyde R. Churchill.

He succeeds Dave Gould, who was promoted to Terra Bella district inspector, December 10; his job will be to observe uses of pesticides to insure their proper application for worker safety and residue.

He also will work with applicators on equipment inspections and proper storage of pesticides and empty containers, also evaluation in issuance of restricted materials permits.

Campbell lives near Porterville with his wife Novella, and four children. He has been employed by the Agricultural Commissioner's office for the last 8½ years in the Porterville area;

FEDERAL SPENDING CUT FAVORED TO CONTROL INFLATION

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Congressman Bob Mathias reports that 65 percent of the residents of Tulare county favor a reduction in federal spending as the best way to control inflation.

His survey also found that 20 percent of the people favor stricter economic controls while the remaining 15 percent support either increased taxes, tight money supply, an increase in supplies and productivity, or a number of other suggestions.

Citrus Growers To Plug Oranges On TV Programs

SHERMAN OAKS – Sunkist Growers, Inc. soon will open a new television advertising campaign for fresh oranges on January 1, with four San Joaquin Valley growers adding a personal quality and credibility to the commercials.

The growers contributing their talents are: Jamie Robertson, of Visalia; Bob McLain, of Ivanhoe; Richard Peltzer, of Woodlake; and Dick Stark, of Strathmore.

Each 60-second commercial places the grower in a typical situation - in the grove, in the packinghouse, or at the loading dock.

The campaign will be highlighted by an 18-week prime-time package featuring such shows as Hawaii 5-0; Marcus Welby, The Waltons, The Brady Bunch, and Sonny and Cher.

We Only Heard

By BILL RODGERS

MUST BE that the FBI is bucking for The Farm Tribune award for worst press release of the year, judging by the announcement that Fran Torigian will attend the FBI National Academy. But in all fairness, we must point out that the City of Porterville is now the leading contender, and it is doubtful that the FBI can edge its way in... However, the Edison company is moving up on the outside and is making a strong run for it, what with sending us the same identical release that we have been receiving twice a year for some 27 years telling about how much taxes Edison pays, and we are receiving from time to time other annual identical releases on the various Edison company scholarship programs... So look, Mr. Edison, why don't you let your sharp PR people be sharp? Why don't you make a sensational move in your PR department - like inserting a shot of originality... And as for Mr. City of Porterville, if you're going to put out press releases, get someone to write them who can write them... As for the FBI, well no one in Washington has been listening to us lately - or did they ever - so we suppose that the typical bureaucratic press release will continue to prevail.

WHILE PRYING around the city hall we came across a most revoltin' development - the Barn theater is trying to tie in with the city recreation program and, apparently, with Porterville Public schools, like maybe becoming an official part of city recreation, including, we suppose, assignment of city personnel to help with Barn chores, and, again we suppose, like having the Barn's director on the school payroll as an adult education instructor, or an adult education teacher as Barn director, with the school district picking up a prorated portion of the salary tab in either case... We hope the city and the school district handle this idea just as similar ideas have been handled in the past - forget it... As of now the high schools and the elementary schools have programs in the dramatic arts that seem to meet student needs quite well; adults who want to participate in an educational type theater can get into the act at Porterville college. So, it would seem, the real reason for tying the Barn into the school and city programs is to cut in on a source of money not now available to the Barn - public money that is... Since its inception, lo those many years ago, the Barn has operated as a true community theater should, complete with good shows and bad shows, periods of financial affluence and financial crisis, good directors and bad directors, periods of strong community support and not such strong support. But it is these factors that have made the Barn the Barn, plus the freedom of those persons interested in the Barn to go the route they wanted to go - for better or for worser - without other agencies dictating plays and policies. If the Barn is turned into an educational theater, or a recreational theater, then it loses its identity as a true community theater, in which case we had best place a granite stone bearing an appropriate epitaph in memory of the late Barn theater, and let it rest in peace.

BIDDING ACTIVE FOR SURPLUS FIRE WOOD

VISALIA – County Purchasing Agent Clifford Unruh reports that 245 bids were received for 61 cords of firewood owned by the county and offered for sale.

Bids ranged to $50.25 per cord for a total of $2,718.00 for the county surplus wood. Each bidder was limited to a maximum purchase of two cords.

County Parks Director Merle Harp says this is all the wood that can be sold this year but because of the response from the public, similar procedure will be followed in the future if surplus wood becomes available.

Successful bidders have been notified by the County Purchasing department.

NEW SCHEDULES ANNOUNCED FOR COUNTY REFUGE DISPOSAL SITES

VISALIA — Beginning January 1, 1974 all County Refuse Disposal sites, with the exception of the Tulare-Linder, Richgrove, and Terra Bella sites will open Monday through Saturday from 8:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m.; all disposal sites will be closed on Sundays and New Year's day, Memorial day, Labor day, Thanksgiving day and Christmas day, according to L.B. Augustson, Tulare County Public Works director.

The Tulare-Linder Disposal site, on Road 36 at Avenue 236, will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Monday and Tuesday only of each week, except on the designated holidays. Residents in the area who desire to use a refuse disposal site on other days are requested to use the Tulare County Woodville Disposal site on Road 152 (Bliss Lane) at Avenue 198.

The Richgrove Disposal site, located on Road 252 at Avenue 84, will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Wednesday and Thursday, except on designated holidays. Residents in the Richgrove area are requested to use the County's Teapot Dome Disposal site on Avenue 128 at Road 208 on the days that the Richgrove site is closed.

The Terra Bella Disposal site, located on Road 252 at Avenue 84, will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Friday and Saturday only except on designated holidays. Residents in the area desiring to use a disposal site on other days are requested to use the Teapot Dome Disposal site on Avenue 128 at Road 208.

County-operated refuse disposal sites in the valley area that will be open six days a week Monday through Saturday, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., are the Visalia Disposal site located on Road 80 at Avenue 332; the Woodlake Disposal site located on Avenue 340 at Road 208; the Woodville Disposal site on Road 152 at Avenue 198; the Earlimart Disposal site located on Road 136 at Avenue 70; Teapot Dome Disposal site, located on Avenue 128 at Road 208, and the Exeter Disposal site, located on Road 188 at Avenue 244.

Other County Refuse Disposal sites, located in Alpaugh, Springville, Camp Nelson, Balance Rock, Kennedy Meadows, Badger, and Pine Flat, will be open Monday through Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. after January 1, 1974 also.

Augustson says changes in the county's refuse disposal operations are necessary because of orders by the State of California Air Resources board which prohibits the burning of refuse in a disposal site except under a variance approved by the board in sparsely populated areas.

The revised operation of the Refuse Disposal sites will eliminate any scavaging at the disposal sites in order that they may be classified as sanitary landfills, the designation of which is necessary for the county's Refuse Disposal sites to continue to receive the type of refuse that is presently being disposed of at the disposal sites.

Anyone having questions regarding the operation or regulations of the county-operated Refuse Disposal sites should contact the Refuse Disposal division of the County Public Works department, 732-5511, Ext. 376, at the county courthouse, or 733-4787 at the Refuse Disposal office, 336 Ben Maddox Way, Visalia.

Commissioned to coordinate and plan for the celebration of the 200th Anniversary of the American Revolution, which resulted in the founding of the United States, the Tulare County commission has recently written letters to all Tulare County communities seeking their aid and cooperation in planning for the celebration of America's birthday in 1976.

Each community will be contacted by a member of the County commission from their separate Supervisorial district seeking encouragement to plan some event of significance to their own community in cooperation with County overall plans.

Cotton Research station at Shafter, T-1307 is, like SJ-2, an Acala cotton and is expected to complement SJ-2 in the valley-wide production program.

Other yield data was presented by Dr. H.B. Cooper, cotton breeder at the Shafter station. This revealed that in first picking this season of nine test locations in wilt areas T-1307 outyielded SJ-2 by 909 pounds to 882 pounds. On the other hand, SJ-2, with a 1,027 pound average, outproduced all other varieties in 13 non-wilt locations.

The CCVTC testing program was initiated at the suggestion of the California state legislature and now is in its eighth year. It is administered by a committee of growers elected in each of the valley's cotton counties, and by agency and industry appointees.

Dick Markarian of Fresno county, chairman, announced an election of committee members for Fresno and Kings counties will be held in February. Nominations for the positions will be accepted until Jan. 18.

Celery harvest is in full swing, with good quality, in the Ventura and Riverside areas; harvest is past its peak in the Salinas valley.
